

“. . . and through blood shot eyes, irritated by booze, green smoke and wine, I watched it all and wondered how much more my body take.”

Eric H. Pasley

Step into a wild and surreal world of a scuba instructor working in the Caribbean. I've been teaching diving for almost twenty years and spent seven of them working in the Islands. Everyday was a vacation with countless adventures and experiences that border lined fiction. A lifestyle filled with perpetual sun, endless partying, bizarre tourists, beautiful sun tanned girls and thousands of dives. It's a story of escape, of running into the unknown and leaving the world behind.
